

President's Address

"In the end, it's extra effort that separates a winner from second place. But winning takes a lot more than that, too. It starts with complete command of the fundamentals. Then it takes desire, determination, discipline, and self sacrifice. And finally, it takes a great deal of love, fairness and respect for your fellow man. Put all these together, and even if you don't win, how can you lose?"

Jesse Owens

Jesse Owens was a track and field athlete renowned for his sportsmanship.

At our annual OHJA Awards Banquet we celebrate the horses that were successful during the year. What we cannot acknowledge are the other goals that were met.

There are riders that have accomplished much in their quest to learn about their horse and riding. Jumper riders who have learned that balance is essential to performance; equitation riders who have learned to stay centered on their horse to maintain this balance; and beginner hunter riders learning to maintain their balance over a jump.

They have all learned through desire, determination, discipline, and self sacrifice.

Because, riding is a sport that you need to practice. The horses cannot read the education material or follow the lesson plan but they do respond to properly executed directions. Learning to perform well is an accomplishment in itself. The journey to success can be as rewarding as the ribbon at the end of the day.

Our equestrian community recently lost a superstar in Hickstead. He took Eric on a journey to success. Their partnership emulated the understanding between horse and rider that comes from desire, determination, and a lot of hard work at the fundamentals.

Let us celebrate all our fellow competitors tonight as well as our Champions and Award winners. We have all worked hard!
